Will be Asked to be More
Truthful.

The Akron correspondent of the Cleveland Leader has asked a retraction of the Youngstown Vindicator of the statement in its column of paragraphs, "The lying correspondent, of the Cleveland Leader," etc., which was reproduced in Tuesday's Wise and Otherwise column of The Democrat.

The only article that Mr. W. B. Baldwin, the Akron correspondent of the Leader, sent to his paper, regarding Akron's financial condition, and the one to which the Vindicator referred, did not say that a receiver was to be appointed for this city. Concerning that subject, the item read:

"The financial difficulties in which the city finds itself have led to considerable talk that if things were not satisfactorily straightened out a receiver might be asked for. This talk is not, however, taken at all seriously, and no such action is regarded as probable."

It was stated Wednesday that if the deal is made the Canton-Akron line would be completed as part of the through line from Cleveland to Columbus, and that the Canton, Massillon & Akron line would be built only to Massillon. This gives the syndicate a line between Cleveland and Massillon.

Imported Patterns

Genuine Parisian Creations

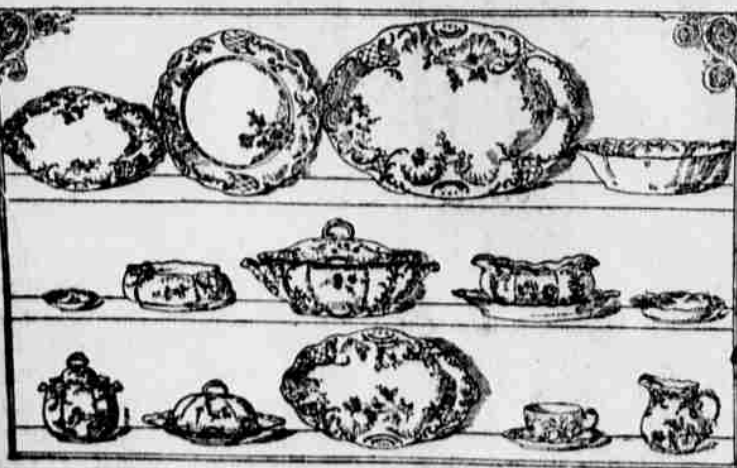

WE ARE PLEASED to announce to our patrons that we have purchased from one of the leading importers, who is an unquestioned authority on ladies' fashionable headwear, a line of genuine, Paris pattern hats of the most unique and exquisite designs. They include materials that cannot easily be duplicated and no two are similar in style or effect.

These styles arrived from Paris during the last ten days, and we are assured by the importer that we have secured them in advance of the few exclusive milliners in this country who will control the balance.

Our prices for these hats will be recognized as very reasonable, as we will offer them at as low rates as we sell in our dry goods and goods in other departments.

Our fall line of millinery, of all kinds, is now ready for inspection and will well repay a visit, whether intending to purchase or not.
